

Bill.com, AICPA Form Alliance

Web-based accounting startup teams with CPA2Biz.

Bill.com, a Software as a Service (SaaS) company that provides businesses on-demand accounts payable software, has forged a strategic alliance with the CPA2Biz unit of the AICPA.

The deal provides Bill.com with a one-stop solution to its accounting marketing and gives the AICPA the opportunity to partner with a Silicon Valley star to develop some long-sought-after projects, including a CPA “dashboard.”

For accountants, it provides a simple and innovative accounting service to gain and retain clients.

The announcement was timed for the AICPA Information Technology Conference this week in Las Vegas.

Rick Telberg | Editor

Rick Telberg is president and chief executive of Bay Street Group LLC, actionable intelligence for the tax and finance professions.